

Medicaid can never put you out of your house while you're living in the house or the spouse is living in the house or the minor or disabled child is living in the house. Medicaid does have some rights once those exceptions no longer exist, but we have numerous planning techniques that we discuss with our client in regard to preserving the house.